Talked with Susan Labandibar about the whole MAHP fiasco. She told me what a rough week you were having, and I wasn't surprised. When I didn't get a response on your official email I figured you were in quite a bind. I never doubted that you were one of the councillors helping to put together the resolution. I also see how complicated an issue this is for Cambridge to tackle. Being Jewish I know these complexities first hand, and have lost dear friends over them.

You are a great councilor for wrestling with this (and for everything else you do) ... And I hope... for all my zeal... that this can be laid to rest as an issue for our Council. Much has been learned... constructive and destructive... but I think the long time effect will be positive.

In support and admiration, Paula
